Scandinavian Immigrants.
Winnipeg, July 12.—Bernard Hage, correspondent of the Scandinavian-American Press, arrived in the city today. The object of Mr. Hage's visit to Canada is to inspect the various Scandinavian colonies throughout the West, observe their condition and communicate the result of his observations to the Scandinavian press of Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois. The immigration authorities believe his letters will serve to stimulate greatly the movement of Scandinavians from the United States to Canada. Mr. Hage will go west to Edmonton, and will make a zigzag trip from that point home. He will cover the Calgary and Edmonton branches, and the Prince Albert branch thoroughly, and will endeavor to visit all the principal colonies of Scandinavian people. He states that his interest in the North-West is very much deepened when at the last meeting of the Lutheran synod in Minnesota twenty-six new Canadian church congregations applied for admission to the association.

"On the line of common honesty I ask you for your most emphatic condemnation and action on the practices which make legitimate business impossible and put the members of our body at the mercy of tricksters and knaves.

Sentences of Death Could Not Be Enforced After Libau Outbreak.

London, July 12.—The Morning Post, from authoritative sources, gives an account of the recent outbreak at Libau. The attempt to carry out the sentences of death provoked still more serious signs of mutiny, whereupon the port commander ordered the executions stopped and applied to St. Petersburg for instructions. The government replied that all the mutineers must be shot and a shooting party was formed, but when the order to fire was given the firing squad turned and fired on the officers instead of on the condemned mutineers and a dozen officers fell dead. Other troops, including Cossacks, the account says, were summoned, and a serious conflict ensued, during which 23 Cossacks were killed before the mutiny was quelled.

Young Lady Drowned Through Accident and Owner Arrested.

New York, July 12.—Three lives were lost by the sinking of the steam yacht launch Normandie, which was run down last night in the Hudson river off New York, by the Norwegian tramp steamer Volund bound for Hamburg.

The Normandie was under charter to John H. Rudd, of the Yonkers Yacht Club, who last night invited Miss Dagmar Rudd, his daughter, and her friends, Mr. Rudd, Mr. Greene and Jos. Hannigan, the deck hand of the yacht, managed to keep afloat by clinging to wreckage until they were picked up by a boat from the Volund and were taken aboard. Nothing more was seen of the three other persons on the yacht, and they are supposed to have gone down in the vessel.

A little later Rudd, Greene and Hannigan were put ashore from the steamer, which continued on her way. They refused to give an account of what occurred, desiring, as they said later, to avoid notoriety, and took a train for this city. The success of such a task was, Mr. Rudd, Mr. Greene and Jos. Hannigan, the wreck of the yacht today and found long strands of hair streaming from one of the portholes. The coroner tonight caused the arrest of Joseph Hannigan, the deck hand, and issued an order for the arrest of Mr. Rudd.

Great Future For West Coast Traps

W. J. Leary Thinks Headquarters of Canning Industry Will Be Victoria.

Good Haul Yesterday at Capital City Canning Company's Traps.

W. J. LEARY, managing director of the Capital City Canning & Packing Co., is in the city, a guest at the Dominion hotel. He has much to relate of interest respecting trap-fishing operations on the West Coast of the Island. In an interview with a Colonist reporter last evening he said:

"We lifted our traps this morning and realized a catch of 1,200 fish—225 reds of large size, the balance sockeyes. These were shipped on to our customers on the Fraser river.

"Our company are well satisfied with the results up to date, and look for the usual heavy run in the full moon tides in a few days' time. The indications of a heavy run are that the fish in the to-day, and the traps farthest down the straits are making the heaviest hauls. The Capital City Co. propose the erecting here of a complete canning plant to be in working order by the 1st of October.

"The present method of shipping fish to the Fraser is both cumbersome, expensive, unprofitable and absurd. I say absurd because I have seen today in this city salmon caught at Sooke, shipped by us to New Westminster in cold storage ordered by Victoria fishermen from their agents there and finally shipped back on ice to supply the dinner table of the intelligent Victorian. It will be self-evident from this that it is high time that something were done to circumvent this economy.

"There have been a number of American visitors who have manifested a surprisingly keen interest in our fishing operations down at Sooke—one party of Anacortes gentlemen was surprised to find the number of sockeyes that is being taken at present.

"The only incident outside the ordinary was the capture today of a huge shark measuring about ten feet in length and requiring the use of the steam winch to get him out of the pot, and when in the air the dog fish he swallowed ran out of him in a stream. The weight of it was about 1,000 pounds. At Vancouver they are making a 10-cent show of a considerably smaller shark. This is diversified on Cordova street as the 'man-eating monster.'

"With regard to the future of the fishing industry I consider it a practical certainty that within the near future the whole system and venue of the industry will be changed. Practical men connected with the business in Vancouver begin to fully realize this, and the heads of everyone of the big mainland canning concerns have acquired rights on the coast of the straits of Juan de Fuca, that is along the southern coast of Vancouver Island. In my opinion the Fraser river will soon become what nature intended it should be, namely, a breeding ground—not a fishing ground.

"With the up-to-date methods employed now, the fish are very much superior to those taken in the fresh water. It is a well known fact that the quality of the fish deteriorates very rapidly after entering fresh water, and practically becomes unfit for human food. These are well known facts beyond dispute, and for this reason alone I consider that the future headquarters of the sockeye canning business must be at Victoria."

Why France Loves England

M. Delcasse Explains That Great Britain's Navy Compels Respect.

Quarrel With the Mistress of the Seas Would Be Suicidal.

PARIS, July 12.—Former Foreign Minister Delcasse, in the course of an interview published in the Gaulois today upon the British and French naval armaments at Brest, was indisposed to discuss his policy relative to Great Britain and Germany. He said: "The policy of nations nowadays is not based on sentiment or antipathy, but upon their material interests. As between Germany and Great Britain the commercial balance shows where our interests lie. Great Britain is our best purchaser, while Germany buys almost nothing of us and tries to sell us all she can. Moreover it is evident that we could not have open irritating controversies with Great Britain which might precipitate an armed struggle, for Great Britain holds indisputably the empire of the seas. For every warship we build she builds four or five. It is therefore well to accept these manifest facts and consider the value which British co-operation would give us in certain eventualities. The greatest intrinsic value of such co-operation would be the virtual impossibility in which it would place Germany of making war upon us."

M. Delcasse was asked if he considered the recent menaces in connection with Morocco as being serious. He replied: "Not at all. In case of war Great Britain would be surely with us against Germany, and then what would the infant fleet of Germany amount to? What would become of her ports, of her commerce, of her merchant marine? It would mean annihilation. That is the real significance."

of the present exchange of visits between the British and French squadrons. An understanding of such a kind would be a naval war machine so powerful that neither Germany nor any other power would risk collisions upon the sea. It is the sea which it is necessary to command today, and the war in the Far East has conclusively demonstrated that."

Continuing, M. Delcasse discussed the possibility of a policy which had been Anglo-French cordial understanding," he said, "was an achievement towards a definite understanding between Russia and Great Britain, and this further understanding would have been the work of the French minister for foreign affairs. The success of such a task would have strengthened our influence in British councils and assured for a long time the peace of the world."

In conclusion, M. Delcasse was asked for his opinion of France accepting a conference of Morocco, which he gave the following text, "To go to a conference is a mistake and such a mistake."

CHINA AND THE CONFERENCE.

St. Petersburg, July 12.—According to information obtained at the foreign office, it seems that China did not ask for representation at the Washington conference, but simply notified Russia and Japan that it was towards a conference at the conference and her consent secured in any stipulations to a treaty affecting Chinese territory she would consider herself bound to it.

Radical Change In Czar's Plans

New Programme Includes Entire Suppression of Boulgarian Ideas.

Emperor Decides for Class Representation in the New Assembly.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—(2.40 a.m.)—According to a statement current here last night there has been another radical change in the programme for a national assembly, which will involve the suppression of the whole of the Minister of Interior Boulgarian project, but one based distinctively upon class representation, a system against which the Moscow Zemstvo congress took a stand.

This new project, it is said, will be considered by the council of ministers under the presidency of the Emperor reinforced by the Grand Dukes and a number of high court officials.

The Emperor's conversion to the class representation project is attributed to the influence and party leadership of the landed nobility, the views of which were placed before His Majesty in an address presented by Count Bobrinsky, president of the constitutional conservative party, and Count Shouretieff in behalf of what is denominated "The Patriotic League."

Despite the popular idea here as well as abroad that Russia is ruled by the bureaucracy, it is nearer the truth to say she is ruled by a small oligarchy of Grand Dukes and about thirty great noble families who have access to the court, and who make the bureaucracy their tool. With class instead of general representation, they believe they can control not only the members of the nobility, who are extensive land owners, but the peasants who live on their estates, and thus buttressed the bureaucracy will have to protect its own interests.

The Emperor himself is the largest land owner, owning more than all the peasants of European Russia and over 350 palaces.

George D. Collins Under Arrest

Was Immune From Extradition for Bigamy but Perjury Is Charged.

Arrested at Driland Hotel on Warrant—Says He Is Victim of Conspiracy.

George D. Collins, a barrister of San Francisco, who with his wife has been at the Driland hotel under assumed names, both being fugitives from San Francisco, where warrants have been issued charging them with bigamy, was arrested by Detective Perdue last night as he was returning to the Driland hotel.

The arrest was made by the authority of a warrant charging Collins with perjury in connection with the case, in having sworn on June 30 at San Francisco that he had not married Charlotte Newman on May 15, 1889, as she averred.

Collins, satisfied with his knowledge that bigamy was not an extraditable offence, was slight-seeing, and meanwhile Chief Dinan of San Francisco telegraphed to Chief Langley asking him to arrest Collins for perjury. The particulars of the charge were telegraphed to Chief Langley and he appeared before Mr. Justice Lampman at his residence on Belcher street, and His Lordship issued a warrant for Collins' arrest. Perjury is an extraditable offence, while bigamy is not.

Collins was ignorant of these proceedings, and was surprised when he was arrested by Detective Perdue on returning to his hotel with his wife. Mrs. Collins accompanied her husband to the lock-up and was permitted to remain with him.

Collins was being tried at San Francisco, but when the trial was to have been resumed on Monday afternoon last it was found that he and Mrs. Collins had fled. They had gone north via the Southern Pacific road, and arrived at the Driland hotel, where they registered under the names of "Mr. and Mrs. Rosenberg, of Southampton," until last night, when the register of the Driland shows this registration to have been erased and the names of "Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Branssenberg, of Southampton," substituted.

Admits Identity

Collins soon admitted his identity when questioned by a local reporter, and said he had come to Victoria because he saw that he was not to get justice in San Francisco, where he was the victim of a conspiracy which resulted from the fact that he had made many powerful enemies during political warfare, and he had of having appeared as counsel against them. The newspapers, particularly the San Francisco Chronicle, with whose proprietor he had had trouble, had hounded him, printing most scurrilous stories regarding him in connection with the charge preferred against him by Charlotte Newman, a sister of his dead wife. He said he knew that bigamy, with which he was charged at San Francisco, was not an extraditable offence, and he was safe in Victoria.

In speaking of his case, he said he was married at San Francisco about sixteen years ago to a Miss Newman. His wife's sister, Charlotte Newman, lived with him and his wife, who died five years ago. At the death of her sister, Charlotte, this he did until such time as his children were of such age as to be sent to school. He had by then decided to remarry, and did not think he had obtained justice in his case. His wife's sister, Charlotte Newman, who he married Miss Clarice McCurdy, and soon afterward his former wife's sister charged him with bigamy in that he had married her and therefore his marriage with Miss McCurdy was illegal.

When the charge was made, Collins says, many scandalous stories concerning his actions were published by the San Francisco newspapers, who hounded him because he had incurred their enmity in politics and in the practice of his profession, having appeared against them. He also states the Newmans blackmailed him; that a brother of Charlotte Newman had been killed and offered to have proceedings dropped against him in payment of $20,000. He would not agree to this, and by a process which savors of the Star Chamber an indictment was secured against him. Stories were fabricated against him, and the trial he can it was evident to him, he said, that he would not get justice in a San Francisco court, so he and Mrs. Collins decided to leave San Francisco and come north. He said the law was against him.

DANGER SIGNALS.

No engineer would be mad enough to run by the flag which signaled danger. It is different with the average man or woman. They attempt constantly to run by the danger signals, and that attempt costs thousands of lives every year. When the appetite becomes irregular or entirely gives out, when sleep is troubled and broken, when there is a constant feeling of dullness and languor, Nature is holding the danger sign, and the stomach and its allied organs are failing in their work and the body is losing the nutrition on which its strength depends.

Such a condition calls for a prompt use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies and enriches the blood and builds up the body with sound, solid flesh.

"I have had so much benefit from your medicines am glad to say a few words that you may use for publication," writes Mrs. J. R. Downes, Crystal Lake, Conn. "I had been troubled with a complication of diseases for over two years, and my kidneys and liver bothered me most. Some of my worst ailments were headache, frequent pains about the head, and a sharp right shoulder-blade. My hands and feet were cold all the time, and I had such chilliness between the shoulders. Some days I could not do any housework. I took medicine from my physician, but received no benefit. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and after taking it I felt so much better I determined to give it a fair trial. I soon discovered that the disorders disappeared until now I am well."

ministered very loosely at San Francisco, and men were often victims of such conspiracies as that which surrounded him. He was fully aware that bigamy was not an extraditable offence, and that he cannot be taken from this city on that charge. His marriage, he said, was solemnized at Chicago, and if it had been contrary to law, it was the law of Illinois that was breached, not those of California, and any proceedings for extradition would have to be taken with Illinois and not California.

A Trumped-Up Charge

After his arrest he again said he was entirely innocent of the charges, and emphatically told a Colonist reporter that he considered the charge of perjury upon which the warrant was based on which he was arrested, was a "trumped-up" one. He intended to fight extradition and would not be taken back until he had exhausted every step. He has retained Mr. H. D. Isham to defend him, and Mr. Heincken will make an application for habeas corpus this morning. It was too late last night for any steps to be taken in this direction.

When Chief Langley was advised by Chief Dinan of San Francisco to arrest and hold Collins, he had replied that he could not secure his extradition on the charge of bigamy, and took no steps towards arresting the fugitive. When the San Francisco authorities were informed of this they at once took steps to secure Collins' arrest, and the charge of perjury was made to this end. The charge was that on June 30 Collins had sworn in a proceeding before the superior court of California, in a case in which Charlotte Newman is plaintiff and he is defendant, that he and the plaintiff had not intermarried on May 15, 1889, as she averred, and were not and never had been husband and wife, knowing that statement to be false.

Another Account

The San Francisco Examiner of Monday says: When Collins was first accused of bigamy he scouted the charge and professed eagerness to go to trial and confront his accusers. How little this attitude was sincere was made manifest by the extraordinary array of technical objections of every conceivable variety that he interposed to stave off trial on the merits. He attacked the validity of the grand jury proceedings. He impugned the legal constitution of the body that found the indictment. He challenged the panel. He moved to set aside the indictment and interposed a demurrer. One after another all these pleas, excuses and subterfuges were brushed aside, and Collins, nothing daunted, invented new technicalities.

Then he appealed for time, and for more time. He dismissed his lawyers or they deserted him, and he wanted a week or more to secure other counsel. He had refused to go to the federal courts with a petition to supersede the jurisdiction of the state courts. No plea was so trivial or frivolous that he did not seize on it to help him stave off the inevitable trial, but none of the courts would listen with favoring ear.

Last week he got notice from the owners of the Crocker building that his rent would be raised to a stiff figure for the offices that he occupies. The figure was placed at $400 a month. Although the offices are desirable, that sum was more than he wanted to pay.

The offence for which Collins was indicted was committed in Chicago, when he married Miss Clarice McCurdy, formerly of Stockton, although he was supposed to have a wife and children living in this city. A strange feature of this latest marriage was disclosed by a suit brought last week by a private detective, who charges that Collins employed him to shadow Miss McCurdy for a considerable period before their marriage.

INSANE THROUGH HEAT.

Suffering and Death in New York's Torrid Climate.

New York, July 12.—Undiminished heat and humidity killed a busy day of the torrid wave that has afflicted New York, and tonight there is no immediate prospect of relief. Ten deaths and nearly three score cases of prostration was the record for today.

The mercury climbed steadily until at noon it stood at 97, the highest point of the day.

Some of the victims of the heat were rendered insane by their sufferings. In Brooklyn Daniel McCarthy sought relief by drinking carbolic acid and died immediately. Jerry Lane, a coal passer in an uptown hotel, went mad in the boiler room and attempted to brain a comrade named Patrick Bray with a heavy pitcher from which he had been drinking ice water, knocking him senseless. Two policemen subdued Lane after a struggle and removed both men to the hospital.

RUSSIA'S PEACE ENVOYS.

M. Muraviev Resigns as Chief and M. Witte Probably Succeeds.

Washington, July 12.—Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, cabled the state department that he learned from Count Lamsdorff that M. Muraviev, the chief Russian peace plenipotentiary, on arrival at St. Petersburg has suffered an indisposition. Mr. Meyer does not mention any change in M. Muraviev's plans.

St. Petersburg, July 12.—The Associated Press is informed by friends of M. Muraviev that the ambassador fully recognizes the difficulty and thankfulness of the role of negotiating a treaty of peace under the circumstances, and that he would welcome relief from the disagreeable duty. It is also said that M. Muraviev is really not in good health. Nevertheless the friends of the ambassador expressed the opinion that he would probably go to Washington.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—(2.12 a.m.)—M. Muraviev has resigned his position as chief peace plenipotentiary. It may be regarded as practically certain that he will be replaced by M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers, who all along has been considered the Russian statesman preeminently qualified to undertake the difficult task of negotiating peace with Japan.

However, though the Emperor, who on previous occasions flatly declined to accept M. Witte, has now indicated his readiness to make the appointment, the commission will not be actually signed until Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, who throughout has been M. Witte's warm supporter, has an audience with the Emperor today.

An Assurance of Peace

To that extent only the matter may be regarded as uncertain, nothing being certain in Russia, as a prominent diplomat remarked last night, until the Emperor's signature has been affixed. M. Witte's selection will undoubtedly be hailed as a practical assurance of peace. While it would be a mistake to denounce him as a "peace at any price" man, M. Witte earnestly believes that the struggle should be ended, and should be succeeded by an understanding between Russia and Japan which would ensure peace in the Far East for half a century. Indeed, he is personally believed to be in favor of a Russo-Japanese alliance.

The conduct of the negotiations by M. Witte, it is felt by the peace party here, would inspire instant confidence in Japan.

M. Muraviev's retirement, ostensibly owing to reasons of ill health, is in reality due to the fact that the Emperor became convinced that the negotiations might be jeopardized if he went to Washington. M. Muraviev himself, upon consideration, quite frankly stated his lack of diplomatic training and his want of acquaintance with the questions involved, and with equal frankness expressed satisfaction that he had been relieved.

MARINE NEWS

Steamer Tees, Capt. Locke, returned from Naas and way ports in the North yesterday morning with news that salmon are beginning to run well in the North. The fishermen in the Skeena are taking an average of one hundred fish to the boat when the steamer left Port Simpson. All the northern canners were handling many fish, and the outlook for this season's pack was considered good. Big runs are reported from River's Inlet and Alert Bay, the run at the former place being the largest for years. There are few fish running in the Naas, the catch by the canneries on that river being light.

The Tees has been absent nine days, and with the exception of a couple of days of rainy weather the trip has been a good one. She brought south forty passengers. Among those for Victoria were Fred Hall, traveler for a Victoria firm; Misses McIntyre and Alexander and Mr. Wilson. The steamer brought south thirty casks of salmon from Wadham's cannery on River's Inlet and a shipment of 8,000 feet of lumber from the Alert Bay mills consigned to Munro & Mann. The steamer will sail North again on Saturday night.

Steamer Princess Beatrice, Capt. Hughes, sailed last night for Skagway. She carried a good cargo of general freight and an average complement of passengers. On her southern trip she will bring the members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers to Victoria from Skagway. The mining engineers are now visiting Dawson. A house was built yesterday on the boat deck of the Princess Beatrice to increase the accommodation of the vessel for her southward trip.

THE CHARMER.

P. C. S. S. Co. May Be Given Use of Vessel to Wipe Out Old Score.

Although the P.C.S.S. Co. is anxious to purchase the steamer Chamer, the C.P.R. is understood to be unwilling to sell, and it is said a proposal will be made whereby the P.C.S.S. Co. will let the American company have the vessel, charter free, for one year, provided the Pacific Coast Steamship Co. agreed to wipe off all old scores against the steamer. The Pacific Coast Steamship Company has a claim against the Chamer of many years' standing on account of the collision of the Canadian vessel with the steamer Williamette. It is reported that this claim, with interest,

HONOLULU IS LOST.

Barkentine Well Known Here Given Up for Lost by Underwriters.

Schooner Honolulu, Capt. Neilson, which brought nitrate to Victoria about two years ago for the Victoria Chemical Works, and which has been seen often in this port, has been given up as lost by the underwriters. The Honolulu is now 310 days from Shanghai for Port Townsend and was reinsured at 90 per cent; now she is uninsured. The average passages for a vessel of the class of the Honolulu for the run from Shanghai to this coast is forty days or thereabouts. It is feared by the surviving owners of the Honolulu that she has struck a vagrant mine left derelict in the eastern seas and been destroyed. Capt. Neilson, who was also managing owner of the schooner, is known to many shipping men in Victoria. The Honolulu was a four-masted bark-headed schooner, built nine years ago at Glasgow, Scotland. She was 907 tons net, 130 feet long, 41.8 feet beam and 18.2 feet deep.

LETTER FROM LORD HAWKE.

Appreciative Note to Secretary of the Tourist Association.

The Right Hon. Lord Hawke, the captain of the Yorkshire cricket team, who recently passed through Canada, has said some very nice things about Canada as a whole. He was written to by Mr. Cuthbert, who also sent him some of the Tourist Association's literature, pointing out to him that the leading feature of the cover was a cricket emblematic of this little bit of England on the shores of the Pacific. Yesterday Mr. Cuthbert received Lord Hawke's reply in the following very appreciative terms:

Wigill Park, Tadcaster, June 26, 1905.

Dear Mr. Cuthbert:—Many thanks for your kind letter of the 14th. "Output of the Empire" has not turned up yet, but doubtless it will shortly do so. My stay in Victoria was only a few hours. Perhaps some day I may have a longer time in the West. Your country is grand and folk should make a point of seeing it. Cricket is in full swing and we hope we shall come out on top of Australians. Anyway that is very useful. For Lancs, will be hot in championship, but Yorks will be there again before very long. Again many thanks, yours truly, (Signed) HAWKE.

LIFE INSURANCE

For twenty-five cents you can now insure yourself and family against all results from an attack of cholera or diarrhoea during the summer months. Local News.

Purchases Property.—Miss Jennie Thomson, who has been a guest at the Dominion hotel for the past ten months, has purchased the fine residence adjoining the property of Mr. James Dunsinuir, Craigflower road, Victoria West. Miss Thomson proposes thoroughly equipping and renovating the property, and will reside there in the near future.

Tally-ho Improvement.—The Victoria Transfer Co. has arranged to place its large tally-ho vehicle on rubber tires, the special wheels having been ordered from Messrs. Fuller & Co., of Quincy, Ill. The manufacture of the rubber tally-ho was obtained. It is quite unusual for such a large, heavy vehicle to be placed on rubber tires, but the local company thinks the experiment will result in additional comfort to the passengers.

Garden Party.—St. Barnabas' garden party will be held today at the residence of Mrs. H. Dier, opposite the church. The programme is as follows: Opening exercises by the Rev. Canon; 3 p.m.; orchestral selections under direction of Mr. A. Longfield; afternoon tea, ice cream, fruit, candy stalls provided over by the societies of the parish; orchestral selections by the choir; fireworks and five balloons will be sent off during the evening. Passes will be given to those who attend in the afternoon, admitting them in the evening.

To Welcome Missionaries.—A reception will be held this evening at the schoolroom of the Metropolitan Methodist church, between 5 and 8 o'clock, to extend a welcome to Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Strachan, president and corresponding secretary of the Women's Missionary Society of Canada. Afterwards, in the auditorium of the church, a joint meeting of the congregations of the various Methodist churches will be held to welcome the visitors, and Mrs. Ross will give an address relating her experiences during a tour of the Orient. A good musical programme has been prepared for the occasion. A collection will be taken up in aid of the extension fund of the society.

ONE DOLLAR SAVED REPRESENTS TEN DOLLARS EARNED

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar he saves. During the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars' outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it will save the cost of a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by all druggists.

FISH AND GAME.

C. P. R. Policy on Island Said to Have Been Outlined by Mr. Dennis.

The editor of "The Red and Gun" department in the Vancouver News-Advertiser says: "I hear that Mr. J. S. Dennis, besides his address as the Victoria Board of Trade upon the commercial future of the Island and the province's capital, also had an interview with four or five members of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association. The Island and rivers are peculiarly suitable for sportsmen. Numbers of splendid fisheries are crossed by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway, which owns most of the lands through which they pass. I believe only one river is now being developed by the salmon canners, and that very few of the streams are suitable for this industry. From what I can learn Mr. Dennis stated to the Victoria society that he hoped to see the attention of his company to aid in the development and preservation for the red angler of all rivers along or near the E. & N. railway. I gather that he is a firm believer in the economic value to the country and to the railway of the sporting life of this province. Something must be done soon, or there will be little or no fly fishing within any reasonable distance of the large centres of population. In many cases more is required than the mere preservation of the fish at present in the rivers. This, I expect, we will get through our new game warden to some extent. But one man can only accompany one man's work, and the work of many is required. It is a matter of co-operation with the railway company, and it is to be hoped, that Mr. Dennis' suggestions will meet with the approval they deserve. By the construction of a small hatchery, the streams already depopulated can be restocked. More deputy wardens will be needed, but the expense of such would not be large. If the C.P.R. officials hesitate over the necessary expenditure, it might be possible, I should think, to reach the desired end by the New Zealand methods, with an acclimatization society and a government guaranteed loan."

WHEN SEVEN MEN DIE
You know at least one of them had Consumption. At first it was only catarrh—but it was not long before it became an "ozone" cure so quickly it's foolish to suffer—it's a shame to keep on coughing and hawking. Catarrh goes direct to the cause of the disease—that's why it's so dead certain to cure. It stops the cough, prevents that disgusting discharge, clears phlegm out of the throat in five minutes. Very pleasant, and safe, too, got Catarrh-ozone from your druggist today.

"Do it today" is a motto we should all learn and put into practice, but in this instance it becomes even more important—yea, more imperative—than ever. "Kill the cut-worms right now, today," and save the big potatoes from destruction. It is the advice the Pioneer Druggist of Johnson street gives to the public. The pure Paris green sold by him is an unquestionable eradicator of these unwelcome visitors.

AN AMERICAN DISEASE
Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the nation's disease of America. There is but one national remedy for indigestion, and that remedy is Dr. Hamlin's Pills, which accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood, and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Fresh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases. Test Dr. Hamlin's Pills, yourself. 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers.

SCHOOL MEDICAL INSPECTION.

The Right Hon. Sir John E. Gorst, M.P., a gentleman who has taken a great deal of interest in educational matters, writes a letter to the North American Review for July on "Physical Deterioration in Great Britain," which is well worthy of perusal. Some of the facts given are rather startling, and as the matter of medical inspection in schools has been agitated in Victoria, it will be timely to refer to them. Of course, the conditions upon which the article in question is based are widely different from those in this country. They are those of the large cities like London, Edinburgh and New York. Nevertheless, they exist in a minor degree, and should demand consideration. It appears that ill-health exists in the public schools to a far greater extent than most people imagine. It is stated that in New York a special commission has discovered that half the children required some immediate medical attention, and disclosed a terrible amount of bad sight, bad nutrition and incipient disease. The results of the investigation in the schools of London are said to have been appalling. In the evidence presented to a special committee appointed to prepare the way for a Royal Commission on the subject, it was shown that in one school in London ninety per cent. of the scholars were incapable, chiefly from starvation, to attend to their school work. Throughout Great Britain and Ireland in the poorer districts a large proportion of the children "is growing up so deteriorated by starvation and insufficient and improper food, that they can never become normal citizens, that they will be the seed-bed of disease and crime, and that so long as they live they must remain a burden on society." This is a serious state of affairs. It is pointed out that, generally speaking, throughout the colonies, as well as in Great Britain and Ireland, the birth rate is decreasing and the rate of infant mortality is increasing. The children in the colonies do not as a rule suffer from starvation, but they often suffer from neglect. Children are often fed on badly cooked and improper food. Their eyes are badly cared for, and shortsightedness is becoming very common. Pure air and fresh, wholesome water are often absent in school, and, of course, they are subject to those frequent epidemics of measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria, etc., to which weak and sickly children are peculiarly susceptible, and thus these diseases are conveyed to the more healthy children. Sir John Gorst points out that the period of from three to twelve is a critical one, and that practically the physique is determined according to the treatment the body receives during that time. Notwithstanding that the theory of the "educationalist" seems to be that it is the business of the schools to attend to the minds rather than the bodies of the scholars, "and that school authorities have little to reproach themselves with if the children die of hunger, provided they have been duly taught the multiplication table before they expire." Physical deterioration of the nation is bound to go on under such conditions as the writer describes, for which the school is largely responsible. He is strongly in favor of free medical inspection, free medical advice, and in many instances free medical supplies as a means of offsetting results arising from conditions complained of. As already intimated, very much that Sir John Gorst writes about will fortunately not apply to our British Columbia schools, as some of the evils are unknown, but the necessity of careful regard for the physique of the public exists as much here as elsewhere.

A UNITED EMPIRE.

At the annual dinner of the Royal Colonial Institute, at which was present the usual number of representative men interested in the fortunes of the Empire from the colonial standpoint of Lord Minto, Dr. Parkin and others spoke. Lord Minto, in proposing the toast to the "United Empire," referred to the relations which exist between the various parts of the Empire and the Mother Country. He spoke of the early navigators and explorers, such as Drake, Froisher, Raleigh, Cook and Vancouver, to whom we owe the possessions we now have, and of the work of upbuilding, much of it rough and irregular in its way. That work, he said, had been completed to a certain extent. The component parts had been moulded, and it now remained for the rising generation to weld them together. "The distant settlements," he remarked, "have grown into rising young nationalities, with ambitions of their own, and the temptations, too, of rising young powers, but, all the same, with a strong love of British history and a strong pride of British descent." Then the speaker called attention to the meaning of this coalition of parts founded on mutual regard alone, and asked his audience if they realized fully its significance. "Do you think," he asked, "we have really formed an accurate estimate of the value of these young powers that are rising around us? Have we taken to ourselves and considered what the want of appreciation of those sentiments may mean to us? I only hope we have. I think that our comprehension is growing. We may be insular, we may be slow in coming to conclusions, but I believe that, after all, a true comprehension of the value of our distant possessions is sinking into the minds of the people of this country." "Our kinsmen," he further remarked, "are speaking to us from across the seas; they are calling to us, and I hope they will not go unheard. But I feel certain of this—that the gallant struggles and the fights and the victories of our ancestors, by which they handed down to us the magnificent heritage that we call our Empire, will not be forgotten, and that the coming generations will prove themselves as worthy as those who went before them to uphold the flag of which we are all so proud." Then Lord Minto did British Columbia the honor of quoting from a poet, whom he designated as our "bard," as follows:

"There is an Empire now. Your Isle should be its head. The truest loyalty to Britons known is to the mighty Empire which is built World-wide though centred round the Throne."

Dr. Parkin, who responded to the sentiment, capped the quotation with another from the late poet Laureate, who warned the nation against "the craven fear of being great," as follows:

"Britain's myriad voices call, Sons, be welded each and all, Into one Imperial whole. One with Britain, heart and soul! One life, one flag, one fleet, one Throne! Britons, hold your own!"

Dr. Parkin referred to the dark days of November, 1901, when the Empire stood in a position of isolation almost, when the hatred of other nations was surrounding us on every side, and when they scarcely concealed the hope that the great career of the British was coming to an end. "What enabled you," he asked, "to face cheerfully your enemies in the gate? Was it not the telegrams which poured in from Canada and New Zealand and Australia and many another colony, saying that the sons of the Empire were going to stand by the Motherland? Passing sentiment some may say. But what do we see today? We see our practical men of commerce and trade meeting together and asking how we shall construct a system of commerce and trade which will enable this nation to remain a united Empire. There may be," said Dr. Parkin, "great differences of opinion as to the method, but we see the remarkable fact of our greatest statesmen staking the whole of their political career and reputation on this idea. We may differ about methods, but I do not hesitate to say that there is not a commercial man in this country, whether he be a free trader or a preferential trader, but will unite on this point which is the essential one after all, that whether trade is free or preferential, it shall at least be secure. And commercial security depends upon the continued unity of this Empire." After dwelling briefly upon the Cecil Rhodes conception of drawing young men from the ends of the earth to the centre of the Empire, he concluded by saying that "men of all classes—men of thought, men of action, men of sentiment, men of noble position, men who have fought and served in army and navy—all are concerned in this great idea. The last I mention, but by no means the least, is the working man—the man who is weaving wool in Yorkshire, or the man who is growing wool in Australia; the young man who eats the wheat in London or the man who grows the wheat on the Canadian prairies. Each must hold the Empire together." The absolute necessity of closer union was recognized by all the speakers, but just what form it should take was not suggested, and, therein, the greatest difficulty in the way of realizing their desires exists. The sentiment of the meeting was well expressed by the chairman, the Duke of Connaught, who said that Englishmen of all parts of His Majesty's dominions recognize that if we are to go on and remain the great Empire which has been handed down to us by the great men who made it, "we must have union."

TRANSVAAL AND YUKON

J. H. Curle, who is accepted as an authority on the subject, is decidedly of the opinion that the exhaustion of the outcrop mines of the Transvaal is near at hand. He predicts that such well-known mines as the Bonanza, Champ D'Or, Jubilee Jumpers, Salisbury, Durban Roadpost, Wemmer, Ginsberg, Goldenhills Estate and Crown Reef will have exhausted their gold ore within six years. They will then have to fall back on the Main Reef, which yields an average of only 3.02 dwt., or go into liquidation. There are rich patches of Main Reef which will average $3.25 to the ton, but taken with the general run of ore there would be very small profit, if any, in working them.

Mr. Curle's deductions have a peculiar interest to Canadians from the fact that the capabilities of Yukon's goldfields are only now being fully realized. Capable authorities estimate that the Klondike Basin alone will produce $300,000,000 in gold before its gravels and reefs show signs of exhaustion. The winning of this enormous sum will be accomplished by the introduction of modern machinery and processes, which are now being used to a limited extent. Mining in Yukon has been so far practically confined to placer operations, hydraulic and dredging are still in their infancy, quartz mining has only been attempted on a small scale, and the work which has been accomplished is mainly confined to the Klondike Basin. It is, therefore, reasonable to suppose, when the rest of the vast gold-bearing areas of Yukon have been prospected and their riches located, that their wealth will be found to surpass the bounds of imagination and be practically inexhaustible.

If the estimate of the Klondike gold be discounted by 75 per cent. that one small patch of Yukon will produce more than double the output of the Transvaal, which was, up to the beginning of the war. $78,000,000. With the exhaustion of the African mines the capital invested in them must find a new field, and what more natural than that it should be directed to Yukon? By that time, it is likely a railway will give access to the country, and the present difficulty of transporting heavy machinery, the chief obstacle to mining on a large scale will be removed. When that day arrives Northwestern Canada will supply the world's gold.

AS TO DIVORCE.

Although Canadians are sometimes accused of imitating United States manners and customs, there is one "institution" which flourishes in the Republic which they have not copied—the easy divorce system. Side by side geographically and drawn closely together in their commercial and social intercourse, in the matter of preserving the sanctity of the marriage tie Canada and the United States stand as widely apart as the poles. Statistics of divorce show that Canada leads civilization in this respect, while the United States stands at the very foot of the list.

Canada has only four divorces to every 10,000 marriages, while the United States has 612 to every 10,000. Great Britain ranks next to Canada with 11 divorces per 10,000 marriages, and Norway follows with 16. Other countries come out as follows: South Australia, 29; Queensland, 30; West Australia and Tasmania, 41; New Zealand, 116; Victoria, 124; New South Wales, 273; Austria, 43; Greece, 50; Belgium, 81; Sweden, 87; Cape Colony, 98; the Netherlands, 103; Germany, 165; France, 180; Roumania, 204; and Switzerland, 432.

While it must be admitted that a certain number of Canadians take advantage of the lax divorce laws of the United States and secure release from their marriage vows by a temporary sojourn in that country, the practice is not so general as to alter the fact that the safeguards which our laws have built about the home are among our most precious inheritances.

Continued rain has damaged the wheat crop in Minnesota, and subsequent wet weather threatens to rust the grain. The conditions in Manitoba are all that could be desired.

A St. Paul grocer has sued the Dispatch of that city for $1,000 damages because the paper refused to publish his advertisement at a rate of $1.05 per inch. The circumstances leading to this action are of no importance. The point is that the advertiser considers himself damaged by not being allowed to advertise at $1.05 per inch. What would Victoria advertisers say to such a rate?

Chief Justice Dubuc of Manitoba has decided that a town corporation has a right in that province to limit the hours within which a poolroom may be kept open. The question whether such a place of amusement may be operated on Sunday has been reserved for the Attorney-General's opinion.

The leader of the local opposition, Mr. J. A. Macdonald, arrived yesterday in the city and has gone to Alberni. He is one more added to the list of notables on the Liberal side who have gone to that constituency to assist the Liberal candidate. These include Mr. Ralph Smith, William Sloan, John Oliver, J. A. Macdonald and R. L. Drury. Messrs. Smith and Sloan have come from Ottawa with the intention of carrying the seat at all costs, and we may look for a desperate effort to defeat Mr. Manson, who in a fair contest would obtain two out of every three votes cast. We understand that as one means of influencing the electorate the steamer Kestrel is up the West Coast loading oyster beds, or doing some other important work which appears to have special urgency just before election. In fact, we seldom hear of that vessel except when an election is imminent. Keen interest has developed in the contest, and both parties are working hard in behalf of their respective candidates.

NOT ON EXHIBITION.

Portland Oregonian.

From London comes a story to the effect that J. M. Barrie, the Scotch author, recently appeared in company with an actress in one of his own plays by inviting her to luncheon and sitting all through the meal without saying anything more brilliant than "Please pass the bread." "This tabasco sauce is pretty hot stuff, don't you know?" The girl, of course, expected Mr. Barrie to blaze with exclamations of genius, to talk so brilliantly that the entire cafe would be illuminated thereby and the proprietor could save on his electric light bill. The disappointment of the expectant actress was so deep that the correspondents considered the story worth half a column of cable tolls. "This incident brings to mind a capital story that has been told of the late H. L. Merrick, of the Washington Post, in his time accounted the brightest newspaper photographer in America. His son, Frank L. Merrick, is now in Portland, as the head of the Lewis and Clark Exposition press bureau. Once the elder Merrick was a guest at a swell function in Washington, and late in the evening his hostess reproached him for not having said anything brilliant or witty. "And we had expected so much of you," she sighed. "Madam," said Mr. Merrick, "your husband denied, he the hostess. Then Merrick inquired, "Does your husband pull teeth at receptions?"

NAVAL OFFICER'S ESCAPE.

Lieut. H. W. Parker, of the Devonport training ship Improbable, had an unpleasant experience a few days ago. He was returning to the vessel in one of the ship's boats, and had nearly reached the gangway, when a bullet, evidently discharged from a weapon on board, whizzed past him, the result of a search made on board, a corporal of marines, who was the servant of one of the impregnable officers, and a naval domestic were found in a storeroom, both of it said, more or less under the influence of drink. The two men were placed under arrest, and at the inquiry held on board it was stated that the marine, who had been on shore several days, had obtained his rifle with the object of committing suicide. The domestic self-order to prevent the other man from injuring himself, and in the struggle the rifle was discharged and the bullet passed through the storeroom. How the marine got possession of the loaded cartridge has not transpired, but it is believed that he did not obtain it on board. The inquiry was held that it was only by chance that the bullet passed through the storeroom at the moment that Lieut. Parker happened to be on the side of the ship, and a court martial was not considered necessary. The corporal has been degraded and sent to barracks, and the naval domestic has been "sent ashore."

CHOOSE TO BE SLAVES.

A rather remarkable state of affairs has developed in two islands, Zanzibar and Pemba, off the African coast, as the result of a government decree abolishing slavery. Despite the fact that any slave can now obtain his freedom by the asking, and that they all know it, very few have as yet applied for liberty. The reason for this is, according to Mr. J. P. Last, a Zanzibar official, that the slaves have discovered freedom to be anything but a bed of roses. They have learned that I am strongly of the opinion that the number of slaves who will apply to be freed by the Zanzibar government in the future will be very small, and in the case of those that do so it will be the result of some pique, dispute, or jealousy rather than from love of freedom for itself.

The Princess of Wales, the Princess Louise, the Duke of Argyll, Prince Francis and Prince Alexander of Teck, Mr. Balfour, Mrs. Chamberlain, the Earl and Countess of Minto, the Ladies Ellen and Mary Elphinstone, Sir Percy and Lady Grouard, Lord Roberts, Sir Redvers and Lady Buller and General Baden-Powell were among those present in St. Paul's Cathedral when the Prince of Wales unveiled the monument to the memory of the colonial soldiers who perished during the Boer war. The monument was designed by the Princess Louise.

REPEATING TACK HAMMERS.
The smashed fingers and shocking profanity, traditional accompaniments of amateur carpet-laying, are soon to disappear before the advance of invention. Some one has devised a magazine tack hammer, having a hollow handle filled with tacks, which are fed automatically to the head. Here a magnet takes the place of the fingers, and holds them upright ready for driving, pulls a little latch on top of the handle, and a tack is picked out by the magnet. The down stroke drives it, and this process is repeated until the magazine is empty, when it can readily be filled again.

Labor Day Celebration.—Labor Day celebration is to be held in Vancouver this year, and others of the Western Trades and Labor Council have received an invitation to attend. A fine programme is being arranged for the event at the Terminal City.

Orangemen's Excursion.—A total of 255 excursionists from Victoria went over to Vancouver on the Princess Victoria yesterday morning to take in the Twelfth of July celebration at the Terminal City. The charmer on the return trip left last evening at 8 o'clock.

Mandolin Club.—This evening at the Y.M.C.A. auditorium the Margherita Mandolin Club will hold its regular rehearsal. Signor Claudio will as heretofore direct all rehearsals, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp.

Meeting of Macbees.—Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the A.O.U.W. hall a special meeting of the Ladies of the Macbees will be held, to which members of all lives are invited. Arrangements will be made for the annual picnic of the organization, which is to take place at an early date.

B.C.R.A. Meeting.—Co-Sergt-Major Cavin of the Fifth Regiment will receive on or before Monday next entries of Victoria members of the B.C.R.A., for the annual meeting at Richmond range on July 20th. Members are to take their own ammunition with them.

It is a pleasure to handle well balanced, perfectly finished table cutlery. A new line by John Derby & Sons, Sheffield, that we have just put into stock, fully comes up to the mark. The prices are low, too. For instance, celluloid handled table knives, splendid quality, $4.50 dozen; dessert knives to match, $3.50 dozen. Sixty other styles to select from at Weller Bros.

Sad Tidings.—Mrs. Blankenbach, of "Westward Ho," Cadboro Bay, received by telegram the sad news of the death of her eldest brother, Major Villiers Sanket, of Toronto, by drowning in Lake Manitowish, near Kenora, Ontario, last Monday evening, where he was in charge of a survey party for the Grand Trunk Pacific, having only recently resigned the city surveyorship of Toronto to undertake this work.

Enjoyable Trip Promised.—On Monday evening next under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Metropolitan Methodist church a moonlight excursion will be given, which promises to prove especially enjoyable. The fine steamer City of Nanaimo has been chartered for the occasion and every arrangement has been made looking to the comfort and pleasure of those who will record their patronage to the affair. Refreshments will be served on board the steamer.

Goldstream Popular.—Goldstream is now proving a popular point with tourists, the natural charm of this delightful country retreat being enhanced by the circumstance that the hotel, under the management of Mr. J. R. Dawson, is being conducted on the most modern principles and in a fashion to elicit the encomiums of all who have sampled of its hospitality. Amongst the recent arrivals at the Goldstream hotel are the following: Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Fraser and children, of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Medd and family, and Mrs. Boehmer, of Ontario.

Fire at Revelstoke.—Word was received from Revelstoke yesterday to the effect that the big Eddy sawmill was burned to the ground on Tuesday evening. The fire started in the boiler house about 1:30 p. m., and in a very short time the whole mill was in a blaze. Every effort was made to save the building and machinery, but without avail. The fire was kept confined to the building, and the large lumber yard was saved. The mill was partly covered by insurance. The loss will be heavy. The company intend rebuilding at once.

A Birth Notice.—(Born: At North Vancouver, on Monday, July 11th, to J. A. Chisnell Eagan, editor, and Alex. Pringle, manager, the North Vancouver Herald. The infant's first utterance was: "That a journey for North Vancouver is now an accomplished fact in the publication of the North Vancouver Herald is an event that we cannot help but believe will be hailed with enthusiasm by the vast majority of the people, and no resident who represents the municipality. Beyond stating that it is a business venture, the publication is one unfettered by corporation or combine, we would give no assurances nor make any promises. We are content to stand or fall by our own merits or demerits, and this is for our readers to judge, and not for us to essay."

Children's Party.—A very pretty children's party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell McCallum. Games, races and other trials of skill were participated in with great enjoyment by the little ones, prizes being given to the winners. The long table was effectively decorated in pale green and pink. Among those invited were Miss Eleanor McDowell, Miss Daisy McDowell, Miss Annie McDowell, Miss Eva Holmes, Miss Madge Redden, Miss Freda, Miss Joan Walker, Miss Winona Troupe, Miss Greta McDonald, Miss Millicent Holmes, Misses Iris and Phillis McKenzie, Misses Tiny, Barbara and Eleanor McDowell, Miss Gladys Brindley, Miss Bridgman, Miss Joan Parry, Miss Doris Watts, Miss Ida Fort, Miss Phoebe Foot, Misses Evelyn, Ethel, Dorothy and Muriel Rant, Miss Dorothy Lucas, Miss Eleanor Huntington, Miss Gladys Brindley, Misses Brenda, Thelma Dumbleton, Miss Gladys McCallum, Masters Charles, Fred and Jack Lucas, Master Maurice Carmichael, Master Errol Gillespie, Master D. Matthews, Master Jack Fowler, Master Barclay Monteith, Master Harry Walker, Masters Kenneth, Dick, Eric and Arthur McCallum.

The Arlon Concert.—The Arlon Club proposes holding its annual open-air concert at the Gorge on Wednesday evening of next week, the 19th instant. It has been the custom ever since these concerts were inaugurated to take up a collection in aid of some charity in the city. This year, however, a departure from this custom will be made. The club at the present time has in contemplation the arranging of a musical festival, some time next year, on similar lines to the one they attended last May at Tacoma, when they were the guests of the Orpheus male voice club of that city. To carry out such an undertaking will of necessity require funds, and in order to start a nucleus towards such expense, the members decided at their annual meeting to take up a collection of the most popular kind for this object. It is hoped that those who have listened to the concerts given by the club in former years and others who may attend next week's concert will place liberal contributions in the boxes which will be passed around. The club, since it was first organized thirteen years ago, has done a great deal for the cause of music in this city, and has been assisted in this by liberal patronage from its associate members; but it is in need of funds on this occasion others who have not subscribed, but who nevertheless have had the pleasure of hearing the club, will give something in order that the cherished desire of members to further the cause of good music in this city may be fully realized.

WILLIAMS & MELLIS, 28 Broad St.

Has Sued "Swiftwater."—Isaac Marks, of San Francisco, has sued "Swiftwater" Bill Gates for half of $175,000 gold deposited at Fairbanks and one-half of numerous Tanana claims, acquired, valued at $1,000,000, according to a Dawson despatch. Marks claimed he grubstaked Gates two years ago on a 50 per cent. agreement.

No More "Goes."—The clergy of Dawson City are taking a firm stand to enforce strictly the Canadian anti-prize fight laws, which means there can be no more big contests in the Yukon city. Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and other sports are already disappointed. All participants are liable to three months in jail, with no option of fine.

Recommendations Only.—A paragraph clipped from the New Westminster Columbian, appearing in yesterday's issue, referring to the conference of provincial registrars appears to have been incorrect. S. Y. Wootton, registrar-general, informs the Colonist that so far from anything definite being determined upon, the conference was only held for the purpose of making certain recommendations to the government respecting title deeds.

Elected Officers.—The following officers were elected for the ensuing term at the annual meeting of the Royal Templars, L. H. Hodges, S. C.; William Ritchie, P. C.; Mrs. Street, V. C.; W. H. Gibson, chaplain; J. H. Yeo, financial secretary; William Gleason, recording secretary; S. Cronk, treasurer; Miss Sait, Jerald; Mrs. Luscombe, guard; J. B. McCullum, press reporter.

From Hunting Tour.—A passenger on the steamer Teas yesterday morning from the North was E. L. Pockington, of Mr. Pockington's party, who has just returned from a hunting tour of several months' duration in the northern interior. That his trip was not fruitless is shown by the fact that he brought back a large variety of skins. Pockington, who has been hunting for exceptionally large grizzly bears. In killing one of these the hunter had a narrow escape. After having mangled several of his dogs the animal turned and was within six feet of Pockington before he was let found its mark and brought the bear down. Mr. Pockington is a guest at the Dominion hotel.

Y.M.C.A. at Portland.—H. W. Stone, general secretary of the Portland branch of the Y.M.C.A., in a letter to the secretary of the local organization, says: "As you doubtless know, Y.M.C.A. day at the Lewis and Clark fair is Tuesday, July 18th. The committee have adopted the policy of trying to get association business men to take part on the programme rather than employees. I wish you would find out whether there will be any association business men in Portland at that time from your city, and if so let me know their names at once, as we would like to have them say a word during the exercises." It is Mr. Northcott's intention to visit the fair, and he will leave today in order to be present on the occasion referred to by Mr. Stone. Anybody interested in Y.M.C.A. work is invited to be present.

To get More Strength from Your Food.

LOTS of People are starving with a full stomach. You know, it's not how much we eat but how much we digest that makes us Strong, or Brainy, or Successful.

When the Bowels are filled with undigested food we may be a great deal worse off than if we were half starved for want of Food.

Because, food that stays too long in the Bowels decays there, just as if it stayed too long in the open air. And, you know that a poisonous Gas rises from Decayed food, even in the open air.

That Gas would start a pestilence in a whole neighborhood if the Health Authorities did not compel removal of its Cause.

Well, when Food decays in the Bowels, through delayed and over-due action, what happens?

This is what happens: The millions of little Suction Pumps that line the Bowels and Intestines then draw Poison from the decayed Food, instead of the nourishment they were intended to draw.

This Poison goes into the blood and, in time, spreads all over the body, unless the Cause of Constipation is promptly removed.

That Cause of Constipation is Weak, or Lazy, Bowel Muscles. You know, there are about thirty feet of Intestines—Bowels—in every human body.

These Intestines are lined with a muscular tissue that tightens when Food touches it.

This tightening, after Food-friction, is what drives that Food on, through its thirty-foot journey, to Digestion, Nutrition, and Elimination.

When these Bowel-Muscles grow flabby, weak, or lazy from want of Exercise, the Food does not tickle them enough to act.

That's Constipation! Castor Oil, or "Physic," will help to slide out one load of trouble, but they can't help the Cause.

In fact, they weaken the Bowel-Muscles more than ever by shattering them, and by doing work for them which they should do for themselves.

When your Arm-Muscles grow flabby they need exercise, to strengthen them—not a sling to support them.

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them—not "Physic" to pamper them.

There's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowel-Muscles. Its name is "CASCARETS," and its price is Ten Cents a box.

Cascarets act like Exercise on the Muscles of the Bowels, and make them stronger every time they force these Muscles to act naturally.

The stronger these Muscles propel the food, the stronger does the friction of the food act on the flow of Digestive Juices.

The more of these Juices that act on Food, the more Nutrition does that Food turn into, and the richer nourishment do the little Suction Pumps of the Intestines draw out of it.

This richer nourishment, in turn, gives back more strength to the Bowel-Muscles, so that they need a smaller dose of Cascarets from time to time than the doses preceding it.

This reduction of dose continues till the worst case of Constipation is comfortably, naturally, and nutritiously cured.

But, one big dose won't take the place of ten small doses of Cascarets.

Because, it needs only one Cascaret at a time to stimulate all the Bowel-Muscles enough, without purging, discomfort or loss of nutrition.

Six Cascarets, at a time, would act like the Whirlwind Cathartic you are used to, but six would do less good than one Cascaret at a time.

Because, Six would drive the food through so fast you would get little nutrition from it, and would waste Digestive Juices needed for the next four meals.

If you want a "purge" with all the "gripes," burnings, inside irritation, weak feeling, and stomach upset, of common Cathartics, don't use enough Cascarets at a dose to produce that.

But, if you want the same natural action that a six-mile walk in the country would give you, (without the weariness) take one Cascaret at a time, with intervals between, till you reach the exact condition you desire.

Then, carry the little ten cent "Vest Pocket" box constantly with you, and take a Cascaret whenever you suspect you need it.

One Cascaret at a time will promptly cleanse a foul Breath, or Coated Tongue, thus proving clearly its ready, steady, sure, but mild and effective action.

A coming Headache can be ward off, in short order, by a single Cascaret, and the cause removed.

Heartburn, Gas-belching, Acid-risings in the throat, and Colicky feeling are sure signs of Bowel trouble from food poisons, and should be dealt with promptly.

One Cascaret will stop the coming trouble, move on the Bowel load, and free the Digestive Juices, if that one Cascaret is taken from the Vest Pocket box as soon as the first signs are noticed.

Don't fail to carry the Vest Pocket Cascaret Box with you constantly. Form the habit!

Because, you know you won't walk to a Drug Store, nor back to your room, every time your Bowels ought to have a Cascaret.

Therefore, "Wear" them with you, like your watch, or your lead-pencil, and not to the splendid effect on your Health and Spirit.

All Druggists sell them—over ten million boxes a year, for six years past.

You can try Cascarets FREE before you buy. Write for Free Sample and booklet, "The Cause of Constipation," best ever printed on the subject. Address Sterling Remedy Company, 374 St. Paul Street, Montreal.

FOUR COUPLES AT HYMEN'S ALTAR

Quartet of Weddings Which Took Place in Victoria Yesterday.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. E. B. Jones, North Chatham street, his eldest daughter being united in marriage to Mr. Scott, of Scott & Peden, Store street.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room, which was handsomely festooned with ivy and white flowers, the young couple standing under a beautiful marriage bell of bride roses. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very charming in a dress of white silk with orange tulle, with veil and orange blossoms.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ethel M. Jones, sister of the bride, was handsomely gowned in a dress of grey crepe de chine over tulle. They both carried exquisite shower bouquets, the gift of the groom.

Mr. Scott was supported by his brother, Mr. Ernest A. Scott, of Vancouver. Rev. G. K. B. Adams officiated.

The groom's present to the bridesmaid was a pretty gold chain and pendant set in pearls.

A reception was held from 5 to 7 p. m., at which a number of friends gathered to congratulate the young couple, who left by the Princess Victoria for a tour of the Sound cities, afterwards visiting Harrison Hot Springs, where they will remain two weeks. The bride's traveling costume was navy blue cloth, with hat to match. The usual rice was in evidence, as were also a very large number of elegant and costly presents, testifying to the esteem in which the young couple are held. Yellow predominated at the tea tables, as it was the 12th of July.

Mr. Scott has built a handsome new residence at 257 Fort street, where they will be pleased to receive their many friends on their return.

Turpel-May
The marriage of Mr. Sam Turpel, of this city, to Miss Margaret Turpel, daughter of W. M. May, of Chalmers, took place last evening at the residence of Mrs. M. J. Pearson, a sister of the bride, corner of Kingston and Montreal streets. The room was nicely decorated, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. M. Carson. The bride was attended by Miss Sadie Turpel, a sister of the groom, and Fulton McDougall was best man. After the ceremony they were driven to the Wharfedale, embarking on a honeymoon trip to the Sound and Portland. On their return they will take up their residence on Superior street.

Darbyshire-Moore
St. Barnabas church was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when John Darbyshire, of Hawarden, England, was married to Miss Jane Moore, third daughter of C. F. Moore, of this city. A full choral service was conducted by the Lord Bishop of Columbia, assisted by Rev. E. G. Miller, and the church was very prettily decorated, the work being done by the many friends of the bride.

The bride was given away by her father, and was charmingly attired in Indian crepe silk over tulle, with a veil of tulle, and a spray of orange blossoms was attached to her gown. The wedding bouquet was made up of bridal roses and fern.

The bridesmaids were Miss V. Moore and Miss Jennie Macleod. Both wore white corded silk dresses, with pearl pendants, the gift of the groom. The flower girls were Misses Margaret and Mary Moore, sisters of the bride.

The groom's present to the bridesmaid was a pretty gold chain and pendant set in pearls.

Darbyshire-Moore
St. Barnabas church was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when John Darbyshire, of Hawarden, England, was married to Miss Jane Moore, third daughter of C. F. Moore, of this city. A full choral service was conducted by the Lord Bishop of Columbia, assisted by Rev. E. G. Miller, and the church was very prettily decorated, the work being done by the many friends of the bride.

The bride was given away by her father, and was charmingly attired in Indian crepe silk over tulle, with a veil of tulle, and a spray of orange blossoms was attached to her gown. The wedding bouquet was made up of bridal roses and fern.

The bridesmaids were Miss V. Moore and Miss Jennie Macleod. Both wore white corded silk dresses, with pearl pendants, the gift of the groom. The flower girls were Misses Margaret and Mary Moore, sisters of the bride.

The groom's present to the bridesmaid was a pretty gold chain and pendant set in pearls.

C.P.R. is Testing Crow's Nest Coal

Experiments Which May Involve Displacement of Pennsylvania Product.

Will Effect the Line Running Between Moose Jaw and Winnipeg.

G. S. Lindsay, K.C., vice-president and general manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, has been here for the past two days, says the Winnipeg Free Press. Mr. James McEwen, the company's geologist, has been conducting a series of tests with the Michel coal on the Canadian Pacific railway trains between here and Brandon. These tests on the result of which will depend the question of displacing Pennsylvania coal on the line between Moose Jaw and Winnipeg by British Columbia coal, are not yet concluded, but Mr. Lindsay, in an interview with a Free Press representative, said that they had demonstrated an efficiency for his coal greater than the best bituminous coal hitherto known on this continent. "I am not surprised at this," he said, "because we are now coaling the Dakota, the new Great Northern steamship, which has just rounded the Horn, and is now docked at Seattle preparatory to her maiden voyage to the Orient, if our coal did not merit it, the owners of this and the Minnesota, the two largest steam-

Milwaukee Grand Jury Find 105 True Bills, Including Many Officials.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 12.—Sixty-seven indictments against twenty-five individuals, most of whom are former county officials, were handed down by the Milwaukee county grand jury today in the municipal court. Today's batch of true bills added to the 38 returned ten days ago, makes a total of 105 thus far, with the exception that further probing will result in many more indictments being brought in later. Today's list contains 29 out of 21 names returned in the last batch, there being but five names not before reported.

Nearly all the indictments charge bribery, the amounts it is alleged having been paid to recent or former county officials in connection with the awarding of county contracts for the erection of an addition to the county hospital several years ago.

Guard Was Placed To Slay Admiral

If Russian Destroyer Bledov Had Been In Danger of Recapture.

Shipwrecked Fishermen Fought by Russians on Sakhalen.

The steamer Empress of India on Tuesday brought news that Russian naval officers at Sasebo hospital had stated to Japanese interviewers that after the destroyer Bledov had been captured and a Japanese guard left on the vessel, pending its being taken in tow by a certain Japanese cruiser, instructions were left with the guard that if recapture of the Bledov by the Russians seemed imminent, Rojstevsky was to be put to death.

On the morning of May 28 a Japanese destroyer approached the Bledov, which was lying helpless in the wash of the sea. The Bledov signalled that her engines were damaged and that she was short of coal and water. An armed guard was sent on board to receive her surrender. The Russians requested the Japanese not to remove Admiral Rojstevsky and the other officers on account of their wounds, and the Japanese complied, say the Russian officers, with the understanding that the guard would execute Rojstevsky in case the delay led to a meeting with Russian ships, making his recapture possible.

Fuallied Shipwrecked Men. Advice was also received giving details of shocking barbarity practiced upon a party of ten Japanese fishermen wrecked on the Sakhalen coast early in May. Defenceless as they were and weak from exhaustion and the long immersion in the waves, the unfortunate fishermen were met on the shore by a squad of thirteen Russian guardsmen, who fired upon them, killing five. The rest escaped, and after weeks of privation and hardship in the wilderness of Sakhalen, managed to effect their escape and return to Hokkaido.

One of the survivors of the ill-starred party gives the story of the long ordeal here. It was on May 16 that the ten fishermen, who had sailed from a small fishing village in Kitami province, were driven by adverse winds onto the rocks of Noto Cape, in the southern end of Hokkaido, since occupied by Japanese fleet under Admiral Katoaka, as reported in yesterday's cables. All night they stayed by their sinking boats, and in the morning they essayed to reach shore by means of a raft, timber from their craft. After a long struggle with the surf the men were washed ashore in a little cove, seemingly uninhabited. Hardly had they recovered from their great exhaustion, however, and had started to follow the shore in the hope of finding food and shelter, when they encountered a squad of the coast guard, Russian soldiers. Without parley the guard opened fire, killing five of the party.

The survivors, still pursued by the Russian guard, took to the timber that skirted the beach, and after a breathless chase of two hours succeeded in concealing themselves in a rock cavern on the edge of a mountain. There they were forced to remain in hiding, without fire and without food, for several days, and snails grubbed from the marsh, from May 17 to June 3. Their sufferings were severe, privation and the lack of adequate shelter from the elements making their plight a desperate one. Finally, forced by sheer necessity to approach a native village, the five Japanese were hospitably received, clothed and fed. By night they were smuggled to the seashore and given a boat in which to escape. This they did successfully, making their way to Kabla Island and thence to the Hokkaido coast.

Hundreds Were Drowned

News was received from Canton of the drowning of over 500 Chinese as a result of the collapse of a mat-shed overhanging the West river near Canton. Outside the Szei city, situated a little to the northwest, Canton, a very large gathering had come together to witness the festival of the Dragon-boat. A large mat-shed had been erected on the bank of and over the river. As the crowds became more and more dense, there was a struggle among the sightseers, when suddenly, without a moment's warning, the entire structure gave way and the mass of living beings was precipitated into the water. A few of those who were near the banks were saved, or rather they saved themselves. The rest were left struggling in the water and drowned. The whole surface of the water was like a pond after the autumn leaves had fallen. Every year something serious happens at this festival, but this is one of the worst catastrophes remembered for some time. The officials, though they profess to desire to suppress these things, are unwilling or unable to do anything.

THE CUT-WORM.

Timely Word of Warning Issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Reports have reached the department of agriculture of the appearance in one or two localities of the cut-worm, which caused such widespread destruction to crops a few years ago. These reports, whilst not at present of an alarming character, are nevertheless such that it is considered best to give a timely note of warning. If necessary, arises, a poisoned-bran remedy, which was used so successfully during the last invasion, should be immediately resorted to. The mixture consists of bran moistened with sweetened water and Paris green mixed in the proportion of 1 pound to fifty pounds of bran. In making this mixture, the most convenient method is to dampen a small quantity with the sweetened water (a few ounces of sugar in a pail of water) and then add more dry bran, until the whole is almost dry again. If the Paris green is added to the bran without dampening, it sinks with remarkable rapidity to the bottom, even in this dry mixture, when it is stirred.

If it is desired to use the poison as a wet application, more water can be added until it is of about the same consistency as porridge, but if it is to be used dry, dry bran must be stirred in until the mixture will run through the fingers easily. The poison may then be applied to the land, either around or between the plants to be protected, or a row of it may be run close to the drills of crops planted in that manner.
